Forecast For Northwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Thursday 29 Jul 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Sunny spells and showers continuing, heavy and thundery at times.

Today:
A cloudy start to the day with some fog patches in prone areas. Showery outbreaks of rain at times heavy, during the morning. Cloud breaking up throughout the afternoon, giving sunny spells with isolated showers. Feeling cooler and breezy. Maximum temperature 20 deg C (68 deg F).

Tonight:
Showers become less frequent through the evening, with some clear spells developing. Increasing cloud overnight, later followed by outbreaks of heavy rain in the south. A fresh feeling night. Minimum temperature 10 deg C (50 deg F).

Friday:
A cloudy start, with spells of heavy rain during the morning across the south. Scattered showers follow through the afternoon with cloud gradually breaking into evening. Feeling cool. Maximum temperature 19 deg C (66 deg F).

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
Sunny spells and occasional showers over the weekend, with cooler temperatures. Mainly dry on Monday with sunny spells and light winds, but a locally cool start.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.